HOUSE.

Mr. O'Neill (Pa.) presented the proceedings signatures of the board of trade of that city the building of American ships to trade with foreign ports and to establish direct mail communication with the western coast of Africa.

Mr. Flower (N.Y.) presented a petition of seventy-eight dry goods commission houses and woolen manufacturers of New York city asking for the passage of the bill classifying worsted with woolen. Referred.

On motion of Mr. Adams (III.) a bill was passed to provide for a term of court at Danville, Ill., on the first Monday in May.

FOR RELIEF OF MISSISSIPPI FLOOD SUFFERERS. Mr. Cannon (Ill.), from the committee on appropriations, reported a joint resolution appropriating $150,000 to enable the Secretary of War to distribute rations for the relief of destitute people in the district overflowed by the Mississippi and its tributaries. Mr. Cannon urged the necessity of immediate governmental aid to prevent great and terrible destitution in the overflowed district. The appropriation was sufficient to enable the Secretary to give one ration a day for twentyone days to 35,000 people. The committee did not make a larger appropriation because it was informed that on May 13 next the legislature of Louisiana would be session and the appropriation recommended would furnish rations until that time.

Mr. Bland (Mo.) inquired where Congress

found the authority to appropriate money for the relief of the people of the various states.

Mr. Cannon replied that he found it in precedents and in the starving demands of 35,000

On motion of Mr. Cummings (N.Y.) an amendment was adopted providing for the "actual" traveling expenses of the commission, instead of "necessary" traveling expenses, as provided Mr. Butterworth gave notice that he would ask for a separate vote in the House on the amendment, saying that "actual" traveling expenses might bankrupt the government. This disposed of the civil service commission lause of the bill.

TARIFF TRIBULATIONS. The McKinley Bill Not Satisfactory to Senate Republicans.

A SUBSTITUTE BILL-PROTESTS RECEIVED BY THE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE-HEARINGS

The republicans of the Senate finance committee are at work on a tariff bill to be reported to the Senate as a substitute for the McKinley bill. They expect to have all their work done and to be ready to report very soon after the McKinley bill passes the House. The understanding is that the McKinley bill is to pass the House practically as it is, but there is no expectation of its becoming a law in that form.

The Senate is expected to pass quite a different bill, and the whole matter will be settled in conference on a disagreement between the two

NO CHANCE FOR PASSAGE OF THE M'KINLEY BILL. It is said that there has never been any expectation among the party leaders that the McKinley bill would become a law in anything like the form it was reported. It is understood that the plan was pretty well settled on from the first, and that with this in view there will be no serious difficulty in passing the bill through the House. It was not possible for the party leaders of the two houses to agree upon a general plan for tariff revision, which could be put right through in the form of a bill adopted as a party measure, though there was an attempt to do this.

There is quite a radical difference of views between the Senate finance committee and Mr. McKinley on several points. The ideas of the uitra protectionists are expressed in the Mc-Kinley bill. Having passed that through the House the party will be

IN A POSITION TO COMPROMISE on something a little less radical, and those who feel that they are hit very hard by that bill will be in a frame of mind to be well pleased with very small concessions. They may make a number of such concessions and still pass a bill which will be radical enough for all practical purposes.

A LARGE NUMBER OF PROTESTS are being received by the ways and means committee from interests in various parts of each other. Over 500 formal petitions bearing many hundred signatures have been received since the bill was reported. Some of the petitions of protest are very emphatic in their language, but the committee remain complacent and content with their work.

were received today from New York with relation to the Dingley worsted bill, which was reported unanimously a day or two ago. One received by mail was from the Woolen Goods Association of New York praying for the prompt passage of the Dingley bill. The other sent by telegraph last night protested violently against the hasty passage of this same bill and asked for a hearing.

A LARGE DELEGATION OF WORSTED IMPORTERS followed this dispatch of protest and this morning had a long hearing before the ways and means committee. They contended that the passage of this bill so hurriedly would do them great injustice, as of a meeting of business men of Philadelphia they had contracts made already for importaand a memorial with 1,000 signatures and the tions for fall trade based upon the rate of duty assessed on worsteds for the past twentyasking the aid of Congress in the promotion of four years. COMING ARMY PROMOTIONS. Four Prominent Officers to be Retired Shortly-Who Will Succeed Them?

There will be four important retirements from the active list of the army during the coming few months, giving vacancies for the Secretary of War and the President to fill that are of more than usual interest. Three of these are heads of bureaus, who rank as brigadier generals, namely: Quartermaster Gen. Holabird, who retires June 16; Gen. McFeely, commissary general of subsistence, July 1, and Sur. Gen. Moore, August 16. The other one is Brig. Gen, Benjamin H. Grierson, who was only recently promoted to that rank.

WHO WILL BE QUARTERMASTER GENERAL? There are a great many availabilities for the place of Gen. Holabird, all the four colonels of that corps-the quartermaster's-being very frequently named. These are Cols. C. H. Tompkins, J. D. Bingham, A. J. Perry and H. C. Hodges. Of these, three graduated from the military academy in 1847, and one, Col. Judson Bingham, in 1850, so that there is but little choice among them as far as service goes. All four are good men, each having served through the war and gained the inestimable experience of the work necessitated during that period. All are good business men, all are in good hasband. Mrs, Allen had been sick for some standing and any one of them would make a good chief of bureau. But there is one fact that may serve as a guide. Col. Alexander Perry is to retire in December, 1892, and he will thus have just two and a half years to serve from the time of the vacancy. is thought by some, will be in his favor in the civil service commission shall be accompanied race. Lieut, Col. Sawtelle is said to be strongly mentioned. IN THE SUBSISTENCE DEPARTMENT there are but two colonels, Beekman DuBarry and George Bell, the former having graduated from the military academy in 1845 and the latter in 1848. But Col. Bell retires on the 12th Col. DuBarry has been acting as assistant to the chief of the bureau for some time, and, being thoroughly acquainted with the administration of affairs in this office, is supposed to stand a slightly better chance for promotion than the others. IN THE MEDICAL CORPS.

it is conceded, there is but one probable candidate, Chief Medical Purveyor Jedediah H. Baxter, who is the ranking colonel, and who has a long volunteer record. But he will not retire for several years yet, and as there are who retire before him he may have to wait. him as the best man. AS TO GEN. GRIERSON'S SUCCESSOR

In the case of the selection of a colonel to become a brigadier general to succeed Gen. Grierson there will be the same trouble as that Sopus, N.Y.. for rescuing eight persons from drowning in Rondout creek at different times since 1882; Frank Tompkins of Governor's Island, N.Y., for saving the life of a man who had fallen overboard near Fort Tompkins, N. in July last; Dennis Tracy of Ban. of a successor to Gen. Miles, he is quite likely to go to the head of the list of colonels, where he will find three very close on to their retirements—Chas. H. Smith, nineteenth infantry, who retires November 1, 1891; Geo. L. Andrews, twenty-fifth infantry, April 22, 1892, and August V. Kautz, eighth infantry, January 5, Boston, April 25.-The Freestone Contractors' Association of New England, in an endeavor to win by strategy what it has been unable to gain by the lockout, has decided to undertake the formation of a new journeymen freestone cutters' union under a constitution which provides for the settlement of all disputes by the form of arbitration advocated by Secretary Hayward of the Master Builders' Association. The contractors also insist that the country, many of which conflict with the new union shall admit all applicants if they be competent workmen to full membership. The freestone cutters laugh at the action of their former employers in attempting to organize this new union, and say the men who should join it would be declared "scabs," and could not obtain work in any other city in this country than Boston.

THE SLEUTHS FOUND HIM. An Escaped Murderer Caught Out in Washington State.

NEILSVILLE, Wis., April 25.—A telegram has been received from Sheriff Page of this (Clark) county stating that he had captured Sam Allen at Whatcom, Wash., and will bring him back. Allea committed murder May 10, 1886, near here. He was a well-to-do farmer with a much esteemed wife and family. He became en-amored of Mrs. Wright, a neighboring farmer's wife. Mrs. Wright's husband died very suddenly and a post mortem showed he had been poisoned. Mrs. Wright confessed. Allen had fed arsenic to Wright in small doses until the latter died. She said that Allen had promised to marry her as soon as he could make way with his wife and Mrs. Wright could kill her time, and after Allen's arrest the medicine she was taking was found to contain poison. motion for a new trial was overruled and Allen was in jail awaiting sentence when he escaped. On the morning of May 26, 1887, when Sheriff Dwyer went to the jail he dis-covered that Allen had escaped. Two fire escape doors leading from the prisoner's cell to the street had been mysteriously unlocked during the night, and Allen finding his way clear walked out. It afterward developed that Mrs. Wright stole the key to the doors, slid it down a water spout from her room on the sec-ond floor to where Alien could reach it, and thus enabled him to reach the woods. Allen made a desperate effort to throw the officers off his track by causing a letter to be mailed at Sydney, Australia, saying that one Dan, Allen, a Neilsville, Wis., U.S.A., murderer, had died at a little town in the interior after confessing his crime. The story was traced down by state officials and shown to be false. Mrs. Wright, who confessed that she conspired with Allen to murder her husband, is living in Michigan. The case against her was dropped.

During December Hooper disappeared and soon after Lewis read of the assassination of Clayton. Lewis called at Hooper's house and Hooper's son said he did not know where his father was. Later Lewis learned Hooper had reappeared and bought a ranch at Ranchito. During the investigation by the sheriff letters were received from Gov.
